

NETWORK PROTOCOL PROCESSING FOR ROUTING AND BRIDGINGABSTRACT

Method and apparatus for routing and bridging are described. An address from a packet is obtained and used to find an index in a table. If the address is found in the table, the index stored in association with the address obtained. The index is stored in a data structure associated with the packet.